

HOME @ LEARNING

Issue 6 - 15th May 2020

Update

Thank you for responding to the survey on returning to school, as expected there is a mixed level of confidence in whether this is the right time. Around 22% of parents in Nursery, Reception, Year 1 and Year 6 said they would be sending their children back in those year groups and a further 30% were unsure but probably would. The remaining 48% were either no or probably not. We are busy working on our plan and will be able to share that with you next week.

We have had some good feedback on the home learning and I appreciate that everyone will have a different view on whether it is too much, about right or not enough. A few parents have enquired about live "zoom" lessons but we have chosen not to add the pressure on households to be online at specific times. We are also mindful that not everybody is set up with the technology and equipment needed. We do provide activities that can be used flexibly allowing parents to set their own timetables and expectations.

Mr Martin Kelsey.

Phonics BLOOM

Phonics Bloom has activities from Phase 1 to Phase 6 phonics (if you are not sure which phase your child is working on, your child's class teacher can tell you).

Some of the activities require a subscription fee but many are free of charge and no membership is needed.

30 Days Wild

30 Days Wild is a fun, feel-good challenge run by The Wildlife Trusts every June.

It's simple: can you do something wild everyday for 30 days this June. From learning about nature to creating wild spaces, there's something simple that everyone can do to bring nature into their lives. It brings people closer to nature where they live, taking small actions that can collectively have a big impact! This starts in June so there is plenty of time to get ready!

Another interesting website, which is currently free, is Carol Vorderman's The Maths Factor. As well as short lessons and exercises, the website also includes educational games that children can play to help them learn, and is matched to the National Curriculum.

PLEASE NOTE: The times tables check for Year 4 will not be happening this academic year.

After narrowly losing 86-80 to Eversley in our first "Virtual Football Match," we're hoping to get our own back next week. The next "Virtual Sports Match" is all about Target Throw! Can you throw a ball (or even a pair of socks) into a box, hoop or target? Raglan gets a point for every pupil that enters!

Music Competition time.

Enfield music service will be running their annual piano competition with video entries. There will be prizes of £50 for the winners, £10 for the runners-up. As a special treat, all pianists who reach the final shortlist will win a place to take part in a masterclass with Ivana Gavric later in the year.

There are two categories for primary pupils: Primary School Grades 2-3 and Primary School Grades 4 and above.

If you would like to enter, please email the music team for the entry for music@raglanschools.org. Both entry forms and videos need to be submitted by Sunday 21st June 2020.
